Posted on November 7, 2014 by davidc@ccr-mag.com

Tile Redi®, leading manufacturer and marketer of leak-proof, tile-able one-piece shower pans and related shower construction products, has improved its website to be an even more user-friendly 24/7 source to visitors.

Those who keystroke www.tileredi.com will be presented with a website that not only educates browsers relative to the myriad of benefits offered by this unique line of products. But, it also imparts various ideas on how Tile Redi® shower pans and their related products will solve and/or simplify many construction concerns, both for the residential and commercial construction sectors.

“It’s important that tile installation pros, builders, developers, architects & designers, distributors, contractors and end-users know there is a line of shower pans readily available which offers the only 100% leak-proof water intrusion solution,” stated Farrell Gerber, Executive Vice President of Sales. “Additionally, these products save contractors countless hours of installation time. Upon being installed, each unit is ready to accept the ceramic tile or natural stone of the end-user’s choice, right to its surface.”

Tile Redi® products consist of an incredibly comprehensive line of shower pans with integrated drains, barrier-free entrances and much more. Related products include shower seats, beaches, shelves, niches, ledges and bases. Tile Redi® was not only the inventor of the 100% leak-proof, tile-able shower pan; the firm is the leader in providing Go Tubless™ Bathtub Replacement systems, as well.

All of this information and more is easily accessed and offered with simple-to-understand descriptions by simply logging onto Tile Redi®’s new website: www.tileredi.com.

Tile Redi®’s patented and UL-listed shower pans and other innovative tile ready products are manufactured as pre-formed, one-piece shower modules. Shower pans are complete with fully integrated drains, curbs and splash walls, each leak-proof and mold free unit is pre-pitched for easy drainage and immediately ready for tile.
