

Construction Week Product Roundup: Day 2

Posted by: Nigel F. Maynard

FRIDAY, FEB 7 2014

Las Vegas, Nev.—Innovative kitchen and the bath products were in rare form on day two of Construction Week 2014 and our editors were there to soak it all in.

Notable standouts include the first range that integrates a fully functional, wirelessly connected tablet (Dacor); a first-of-its-kind faucet that delivers near-boiling water, as well as cool and hot tap water (InSinkErator); and a new line of lightweight concrete sinks made from jute fiber and cement (Native Trails).

Here are seven products that we saw on day 2:

Prev

Tile Redi: Redi Neo is a new collection of angled tile-able shower pans that comes in custom sizes. The one-piece, leak-proof units come with various integrated drains: Redi Trench, WonderFall Trench, Wonder Drain or Redi Drain. www.tileredi.com

NEWSLETTER REGISTRATION

Get the latest news sent to your inbox!

Sign up here >>

MOST POPULAR

NORITZ DEVELOPS TOOL FOR SIZING TANKLESS WATER HEATERS

Fountain Valley, Calif.-based Noritz America has developed a tankless water heater sizing calculator that makes it...

Read more >

NUHEAT DEBUTS NORTH AMERICA'S FIRST WIFI FLOOR-HEATING THERMOSTAT

This week at the Consumer Electronic Show in Las Vegas, Nev., electric floor heating manufacturer Nuheat ...

Read more >

BLU HOMES LAUNCHES NEW MODEL FOR NARROW, URBAN LOTS

Waltham, Mass.-based Blu Homes has introduced a pre-fab modular home that has a smaller footprint for narrow...

Read more >

TWITTER